Learning in Oak Class

In Oak Class, we wrapped up our English unit on Francis recently by writing informal reviews. Can you spot what makes them informal? In the pictures, you can see the beginning of Eden, Aayan and Rae's film reviews.

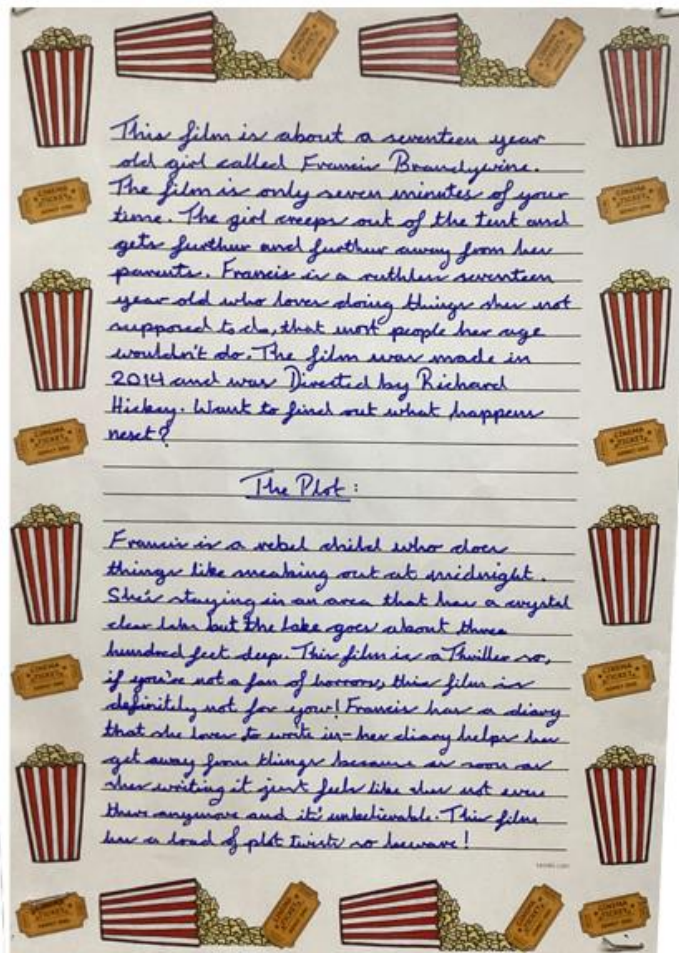

We have, since, started learning about Shaun Tan's The Arrival, which links closely with our humanities learning around migration and population growth/decline. Next week, we'll be joined one afternoon by the British Red Cross who are coming in to lead a workshop around empathy and migration.

Francis is a 7 minute-long chilling animation directed by Richard Hickey and is written by Dave Eggers and was officially made by the (G-I Bros). This online thriller video was published in 2014. This spine-chilling, mortifying, shows that takes you through a shower of emotions, will go miles away from what you're currently imagining. This is a film that is about a girl who is known to have a reckless nature. I am not going to reveal much but... do you want to find out more? I know you do so continue reading and go ahead and watch the beauty!

The plot:

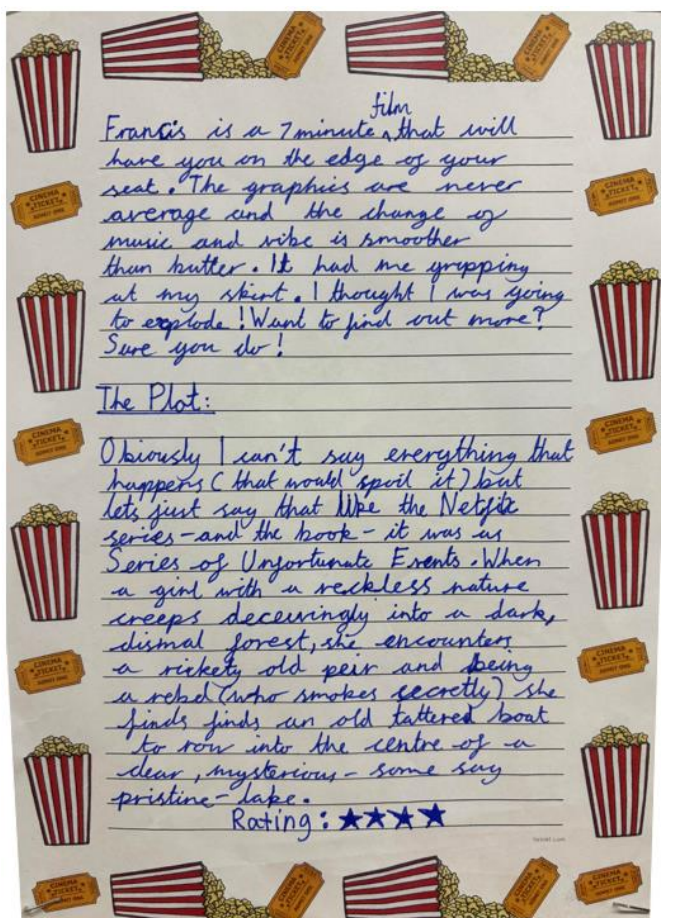

Oh, fine you could try all you want but I will never reveal the beauty (or not) of this video - that would be against the law! Here are some things I can tell you though and that is exactly what I'll be doing. This animation revolves around a 17-year-old girl who went up to an area that is mostly isolated and is called Quetico Provincial Park, which as I was saying, was up on the border of Minnesota and Canada. I know I haven't revealed much but all the rest (especially the ending) is up to you to find out.

This film is about a seventeen year old girl called Francis Brandywine. The film is only seven minutes of your time. The girl creeps out of the tent and gets further and further away from her parents. Francis is a ruthless seventeen year old who loves doing things she not supposed to do, that most people her age wouldn't do. The film was made in 2014 and was Directed by Richard Hickey. Want to find out what happens next?

The Plot:

Francis is a rebel child who does things like sneaking out at midnight. She's staying in an area that has a crystal clear lake but the lake goes about three hundred feet deep. This film is a thriller so, if you're not a fan of horrors, this film is definitely not for you! Francis has a diary that she loves to write in - her diary helps her get away from things because as soon as she's writing it just feels like she's not even there anymore and it's unbelievable. This film has a load of plot twists so beware!

Francis is a 7 minute film that will have you on the edge of your seat. The graphics are never average and the change of music and vibe is smoother than butter. It had me gripping at my skirt. I thought I was going to explode! Want to find out more? Sure you do!

The Plot:

Obviously I can't say everything that happens (that would spoil it) but let's just say that like the Netflix series - and the book - it was a Series of Unfortunate Events. When a girl with a reckless nature creeps deviously into a dark, dismal forest, she encounters a rickety old peer and being a rebel (who smokes secretly) she finds an old tattered boat to row into the centre of a clear, mysterious - some say pristine - lake.

Year 6 enjoyed their visit to Pizza Express on Barrett Street last week. They made margherita pizzas and were told to "Not be shy," with the tomato sauce and mozzarella... never has so much pizza been eaten before 11 in the morning! Thank you to the staff there for hosting us. You can find more photos on our school blog. <http://cchurchnw1.camden.sch.uk>

Dear God,

Thank you for all the food and supplies that you have granted us.
Thank you that some of us have the opportunity to grow beautiful crops and foods.
Sorry that as people some of us take advantage of things and show injustice.
Please help those who are unfortunate to get food and the help that they need.
Please help the provided-for act better to give to those less fortunate.
Amen
